Brought into force on 1.1.1924 vide Notification No. A-61, dated 4.12.1923, Gazette of India, 1923, Pt. I, p. 1695.

1. Short title, extent and commencement. - (1) This Act may be called The [* * *] Boilers Act, 1923.

[(2) It extends to the whole of India [].]

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Object & Reasons ▼

Statement Of Objects And Reasons. - "Under the Devolution Rules the Regulation of boilers is a provincial subject, subject to legislation by the Indian Legislature. There are at present seven Provincial Boiler Acts: some of them were framed many years ago and are out of date. and all of them are inconsistent with each other. The result is that different rules are enforced in different provinces and the anomalous position has been reached that a boiler which is allowed to work up to a certain pressure in one province can only be worked to a much lower pressure when transferred to another province. Further in the interest of safety a boiler required regular inspection in whatever Province it may be situated and it is wrong that in certain Provinces no boiler law should be in force at all. The object therefore of the present legislation is:- (a) to secure uniformity throughout India in all technical matters connected with boiler regulations e.g., standards of construction, maximum pressure, and (b) to insist on the registration and regular inspection of all boilers throughout India.

This object can only be attained by all India Act. with uniform regulations throughout the country; under the Devolution Rules, as explained above, it is the function of the Central Government to promulgate such an Act.

(2) The subject being a highly technical one a Committee of three persons including two boiler experts were appointed to examine the existing provincial laws and to put forward proposals for an all India Act, based on the provisions of these laws brought up to date and coordinated. The report of this Committee has been published and the views of Local Governments obtained upon it.

The Bill which is now presented to the Assembly is the result of their recommendations as modified after consideration of the views of Local Governments.

(3) The only important respect in which the Bill diverges from certain of the existing Acts is with regard to certificated boiler attendants. It is only in a few provinces that boiler attendants are required to possess certificates of competency. The Industrial Commission recommended that this requirement was unnecessary, a recommendation which the Boiler Laws Committee endorsed, and in which Local Governments including those now insisting on certificates have unanimously agreed."

Statements of Objects and Reasons - Amendment Act 38 of 1951. - The boilers and steam-pipes belonging to or under the control of the Indian Navy are at present exempted from the provisions of the Indian Boilers Act, 1923, but not so the boilers and steam-pipes of the Indian Army and Air Force. As the Indian Boilers Act and the Regulations which govern the use of boilers cannot always keep pace with the rapidly changing the technique in the manufacture of boilers abroad, and the Armed Forces may be called upon to use at a very short notice various types of the latest boilers, it is proposed in the present Bill to exempt the Armed Forces as a whole from the operations of the Indian Boilers Act, 1923. -

Statements of Objects and Reasons - Amendment Act 18 of 1960 - - The Indian Boilers Act. 1923 (5 of 1923), provides mainly for Page 1 of 4 the safety of life and property of persons from the dangers of explosion and the achievement of uniformity of practice in regard to the operation, inspection and maintenance of boilers. At the time of enactment, the Act was meant for the regulation of small capacity and low pressure Boilers, as then the boiler industry had not then developed sufficiently. Experience of the working of the Act has revealed certain practical difficulties. Apart from this, the progressively increasing industrialisation of the country in recent years has rendered the use of boilers of higher pressures and greater capacities inevitable and the existing Act and regulations are not quite adequate to meet present day requirements, especially in the matter of inspection. In view of these considerations and of the importance of boiler operation and maintenance, it is proposed to amend the Act suitably.

2, The Central Boilers Board which has been constituted under Section 27A of the existing Act deals mainly with matters concerning the registration and inspection of boilers. Boilers which were hitherto imported are also now being manufactured in India, When dealing with problems concerning the manufacture of boilers, the Board has to take into account, on the one hand, the limitations of indigenous manufacturers in the early stages of the industry, and on the other, the safety and efficiency of boilers. It is, therefore, considered necessary to associate with the Board the interest of manufacturers also. The association with the Board of other interests, such as the Indian Standards Institution and the coal industry is also considered expedient. Further, it is desirable to ensure that this body consists of men with adequate technical knowledge of boilers and it is therefore proposed to lay down that the nominees of State Government should be technical officers. The Bill accordingly provides for the revised composition of the Board (see clause 14),

3. Section 20 of the Act provides for an appeal against the decision of the Chief Inspector to an appellate authority which is to be constituted by each State Government. That authority can exercise its powers only subject to the provisions of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder and it cannot accept any installation which does not conform to those regulations, i.e., the Indian Boiler Regulations. It often becomes necessary nowadays to admit and instal high pressure boilers as short notice, especially for big projects in the public sector, although such installations do not strictly conform to the Indian Boiler Regulations but are known to be technically sound and in actual use in other countries. If such new types of boilers are required to be admitted only after the regulations are amended, there will be delay, inconvenience and loss. It is, therefore, felt that the Central Government should have power to revise the decisions of the appellate authority in cases where that authority is not in a position to grant or renew certificates of registration in respect of such boilers; but this power will be exercised only in a few cases and that too after taking technical advice. The Bill confers such power on the Central Government (see clause 10).

4. The notes on clauses appended hereto explain, wherever necessary, the other amendments proposed to be made in the Act by the Bill. -
