Object & Reasons ▼

Statement of Objects and Reasons.-A Tripartite Commission was set up by the Government of India by their Resolution No. WB-20(9)/61, dated the 6th December, 1961, to consider in a comprehensive manner, the question of payment of bonus based on profits to employees employed in establishments and to make recommendations to the Government. The Commission's Report containing their recommendations was received by the Government on 24th January, 1964. In their Resolution No. WB-20(3)/64, dated the 2nd September, 1964, the Government announced acceptance of the Commission's recommendations subject to a few modifications as were mentioned therein. With a view to implement the recommendations of the Commission as accepted by the Government, the Payment of Bonus Ordinance, 1965, was promulgated on 29th May, 1965. The object of the Bill is to replace the said Ordinance.

Amendment Act 55 of 1973-Statement of Objects and Reasons. -

The Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 (21 of 1965) was amended on the 1st September, 1973 by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1973 (39 of 1973) to provide for the payment of minimum bonus in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1972 at the rate of $8\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. of the salary or wage of the employee and for the deposit of a part of the bonus in certain cases in the provident fund accounts of the employees. A number of representations have been received f.,r payment of the entire amount of bonus in cash. It is, therefore, proposed to amend the Act so that the entire bonus due to the employees in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1972, be paid to them in cash.

Amendment Act 42 o 1974-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-The Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 (21 of 1965) was amended in September, 1973 by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1973 (39 of 1973) to provide, inter alia, for the payment of a minimum bonus in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1972 at the rate of $8\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. of the salary or wage of an employee. The provision for the payment of such minimum bonus in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1972 was made pending the receipt of the final report of the Bonus Review Committee. The Committees final report is still awaited. Meanwhile, the bonus for the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1973 has become payable. Pending the receipt of the final report of the Bonus Review Committee, it is considered necessary to provide for the payment of a minimum bonus also in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1973, at the rate of $8\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. of the salary or wage of an employee.

Amendment Act 23 of 1976-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-The Government of India, by their Resolution No. U-23018/1-72-WB, dated the 28th April, 1972, constituted a Committee known as the Bonus Review Committee to review the operation of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965. The Committee submitted its final report on the 14th October, 1974. After careful consideration of the recommendations made and the view points expressed therein, Government decided inter alia that-

- (i) it should be made clear that the Act provides for payment of bonus on the basis of profits or on the basis of production or productivity and

- for matters connected therewith;
- (ii) power should be given to the appropriate Governments to apply the Act to any establishment or class of establishments employing ten or more workers, by giving two months' notice in the Official Gazette;
 - (iii) payment of minimum bonus should be subject to the availability of allocable surplus, even if it be a marginal amount;
 - (iv) the minimum bonus should be equal to four per cent. of salary/wage. However, the amount of minimum bonus in absolute terms should be raised from Rs. 25 to Rs. 60 in the case of persons below 15 years and from Rs. 40 to Rs. 100 in the case of others;
 - (v) in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1974, every employer should pay to every employee a minimum bonus as mentioned above whether or not the employer has any allocable surplus in that accounting year and that if any employer has paid a minimum bonus in excess of what is specified notwithstanding that such employer did not have the required allocable surplus for payment of such bonus, then, such employer shall deduct the excess amount of bonus so paid from the amount of bonus payable by him to the employees in respect of the three immediately succeeding accounting years;
 - (vi) banking companies should be excluded from the purview of the Act;
 - (vii) agreements/ settlements for the payment of bonus based on production/ productivity in lieu of bonus based on-profits should also be subject to a maximum of 20 per cent., as in the case of bonus based on profits;
 - (viii) section 34(3) of the Act should be omitted;
 - (ix) section 36 of the Income-tax Act should be amended to provide that deductions in respect of bonus paid to an employee employed in a factory or other establishment to which the provisions of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, apply, shall not exceed the amount of bonus payable under that Act.

(2) An Ordinance, namely, the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1975, was promulgated by the President under clause (1) of article 123 of the Constitution on the 25th September, 1975, to give effect to the above decisions and to provide for other connected matters.

Amendment Act 43 of 1977-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-In 1975, a number of substantial amendments were made in the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 by means of the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1975 promulgated on the 25th September, 1975. This Ordinance was later replaced by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1976 (23 of 1976). As a result of these amendments, a minimum bonus of four per cent. only was payable in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1974 and no minimum bonus was payable in respect of subsequent accounting years if there were no allocable surplus in those years. Some other changes made by the Amendment Act also adversely affected the workers.

(2) Several representations on the amendments were received by the Government. After careful consideration of the matter, Government decided that the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 should be amended to provide, inter alia, for the payment of a minimum bonus of 8.33 per cent. whether there was allocable surplus or not. It was also decided that these amendments should have effect in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1976.

(3) Since Parliament was not in session and since it was necessary to take immediate action, the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1977 was promulgated by the President on the 3rd September, 1977.

Amendment Act 48 of 1978-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-In 1975, a number of substantial amendments were made in the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 by means of the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1975 promulgated on the 25th September, 1975. This Ordinance was later replaced by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1976 (23 of 1976). As a result of these amendments, a minimum bonus of four per cent. only was payable in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1974 and no minimum bonus was payable in respect of subsequent accounting years if there were no allocable surplus in those years. The banking companies and the Industrial Reconstruction Corporation of India, to which the Act was earlier applicable, were excluded from the purview of the Act. Some other changes were also made.

(2) Considering an almost unanimous demand of the working class that the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 should be amended to provide, inter alia, for payment of a minimum bonus whether there was an allocable surplus or not, the aforesaid Act was amended by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1977 (43 of 1977) to provide for payment of a minimum bonus of 8.33 per cent. for the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1976 irrespective of whether there was any allocable surplus.

Banking companies and the Industrial Reconstruction Corporation of India were also bound to pay bonus under the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1977. Investment allowance was allowed to be deducted as a prior charge, from the gross profits, in the computation of allocable surplus.

Provisions for payment of bonus under an agreement on a formula different from that outlined in the Act was restored, subject to certain safeguards.

(3) For the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1977, the Government decided to maintain the status quo. A statement disclosing the decision was made in both the Houses of Parliament, during the last session. But it was not found possible for a Bill to be introduced and passed before that session adjourned. With a view to giving effect to the decision to pay bonus before the commencement of the festival season in September-October, the President promulgated the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1978 on the 8th September, 1978.

Amendment Act 5 of 1980-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-In 1975, a number of substantial amendments were made in the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 by means of the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1975 promulgated on the 25th September, 1975. This Ordinance was later replaced by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1976 (23 of 1976). As a result of these amendments, a minimum bonus of four per cent. only was payable in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1974 and no minimum bonus was payable in respect of subsequent accounting years if there were no allocable surplus in those years. The banking companies and the Industrial Reconstruction Corporation of India, to which the Act was earlier applicable, were excluded from the purview of the Act. Some other changes were also made.

(2) Considering an almost unanimous demand of the working class that the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 should be amended to provide, inter alia, for payment of a minimum bonus whether there was an allocable surplus or not, the aforesaid Act was amended by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1977 (43 of 1977) to provide for payment of a minimum bonus (8.33 per cent. for the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1976 irrespective of whether there was any allocable surplus. Banking companies and the Industrial Reconstruction Corporation of India were also bound to pay bonus under the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1977. Investment allowance was allowed to be deducted as a prior charge, from the gross profits, in the computation of allocable surplus. Provision for payment of bonus under an agreement on a formula different from that outlined in the Act was restored, subject to certain safeguards.

(3) Subsequently, requests were received from various quarters for amendment of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 in certain other respects. Pending consideration of these proposals, it was decided to maintain the status quo for the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1977. The intention was to study these proposals and to have consultations with the interests concerned before introducing permanent changes in the Act. This process could not, however, be completed and after the change of Government in July 1979, it was decided to maintain the status quo for the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1978 also. Accordingly, the President promulgated the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1979, on the 30th August, 1979.

Amendment Act 66 of 1980-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-

Subsequent to the amendments which were made to the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 in 1975, there were several suggestions for further amendments. Some of these were incorporated in the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1977, which was made applicable for the accounting year commencing on any day in 1976. The amended provisions were extended from year to year.

The trade union organisations as also the employers' organisations had been urging that the policy with regard to the payment of bonus should be settled and there must be stability in matters of minimum bonus, maximum bonus and the formula for calculation of bonus.

The various suggestions, both of workers and of employers, were considered and it was decided to amend the Act, inter alia, to give effect to the following proposals, namely:-

- (i) A provision for payment of a minimum bonus at 8.33 per cent. or Rs. 100, whichever is higher, should be made in the Act.
- (ii) Banking companies should again be brought within the purview of the Act.
- (iii) The appropriate Government should be enabled to delegate the power to institute prosecutions for offences under the Act to an officer not below the rank of a Regional Labour Commissioner or a State Labour Commissioner, as the case may be.

As Parliament was not in session and payment of bonus for the accounting year commencing on any day in 1979 had become due, the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1980, was promulgated by the President on the 21st August, 1980.

The Bill seeks to replace the aforesaid Ordinance. Opportunity is being availed of to amend section 20 of the Act to clarify the position regarding the extent of applicability of the Act to employees in establishments in the public sector.

Amendment Act 67 of 1985-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-The Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, as originally enacted in 1965, provided for payment of bonus to persons employed in any industry to do any skilled or unskilled manual, supervisory, managerial, administrative, technical or clerical work for hire or reward and drawing salary or wages not exceeding Rs. 1600 per mensem. Section 12 of the Act, as originally enacted, however, provided that where the salary or wage of an employee exceeded Rs. 750 per mensem, the bonus payable to him shall be calculated as if his salary or wage were Rs. 750 per mensem. This section was omitted by the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1985, with a view to securing the computation of bonus payable under the Act in the case of employees drawing salary or wages exceeding Rs. 750 per mensem on the basis of the salary or wage actually drawn by them. After the enactment of this Amendment Act, there have been demands that, having regard to the periodic revision of wages of employees and other relevant circumstances, the omission of section 12 of the Act should be made applicable with respect to bonus payable for the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1984 and that the eligibility limit for payment of bonus contained in the definition of year in the Act should be suitably raised.

2. With a view to making available the benefit of the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Act, 1985 in respect of the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1984 in relation to employees in all factories or establishments to which the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 applies, the President promulgated on the 27th September, 1985, in view of the impending festival season, the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 1985. After the promulgation of the aforementioned Ordinance, Government decided that the eligibility limit for the payment of bonus, as provided for in the definition of "employee" in the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, should be raised from Rs. 1600 to Rs. 2500, subject to the condition that the bonus payable to an employee drawing salary or wages exceeding Rs. 1600 per mensem, shall be calculated as if his salary or wages were Rs. 1600 per mensem. It was also decided to make these changes applicable in respect of the bonus payable under the Act for the accounting year commencing on any day in the year 1984 and every subsequent accounting year. Accordingly, the President promulgated on the 7th November, 1985, in view of the impending festival season, the Payment of Bonus (Second Amendment) Ordinance, 1985.

Amendment Act 45 of 2007-Statement o Objects and Reasons.-The Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 (the Act) provides for payment of bonus to employees under the Act. According to clause (13) of section 2 of the Act, employee means any person (other than an apprentice) employed on a salary or wage not exceeding three thousand and five hundred rupees per mensem in any industry to do any skilled or unskilled, manual, supervisory, managerial, administrative, technical or clerical work for hire or reward, whether the terms of employment be express or implied. However, according to section 12 of the Act, the bonus payable to an employee whose salary or wage exceeds two thousand and five hundred rupees per mensem shall be calculated as if his salary or wage were two thousand and five hundred rupees per mensem. The Central Government has been receiving representations from trade unions, individuals and various associations for enhancement or for removal of the above ceilings. After due consideration, the Government has decided to enhance the eligibility limit for payment of bonus from three thousand and five hundred rupees per mensem to ten thousand rupees per mensem and the calculation ceiling from two thousand and five hundred rupees per mensem to three thousand and five hundred rupees per mensem.

2. Section 32 of the Act excludes certain classes of employees from the application of the Act such as employees in Life Insurance Corporation, Seamen, Dock workers, University employees, employees employed through contractors on building operations, etc. Hence, it is felt necessary to omit clause (vi) of section 32 of the Act so as to bring the employees employed through contractors on building operations within the ambit of the Act.

3. As both the Houses of Parliament were not in session and the President was satisfied that circumstances existed which rendered it necessary for her to take immediate action, the Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 2007 (8 of 20G7) was promulgated on the 27th October, 2007 amending the provisions of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965.

4. The Payment of Bonus (Amendment) Ordinance, 2007 has,-

- (i) substituted for the words "three thousand and five hundred rupees" the words "ten thousand rupees" in clause [13 of section 2 of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 (the Act)];
